A stylized map of the Pripyat River region. The river, labeled 'Pripyat River', flows from the top right towards the bottom right, winding through a landscape. The land is depicted with green areas representing fields or forests and white areas representing roads or cleared land. A yellow line runs diagonally across the map, possibly representing a boundary or a specific route. In the bottom right corner, there is a purple line. Small brown buildings are scattered throughout the landscape, particularly near the river and along the roads. A purple grid is overlaid on the entire map. The text 'Pripyat River' is written vertically along the river.
